

Perfume

When I started to think of the archives, I thought about the thing that I really like and obsessed, which is good smell like candles and perfume. I came across that it will be interesting to present the visual archive of something that is not about visual. I was inspired by the book "Perfume Area". It used poetic way to describe what the smell is like. I thought it will be interesting to combine smell with different range and shades of color.

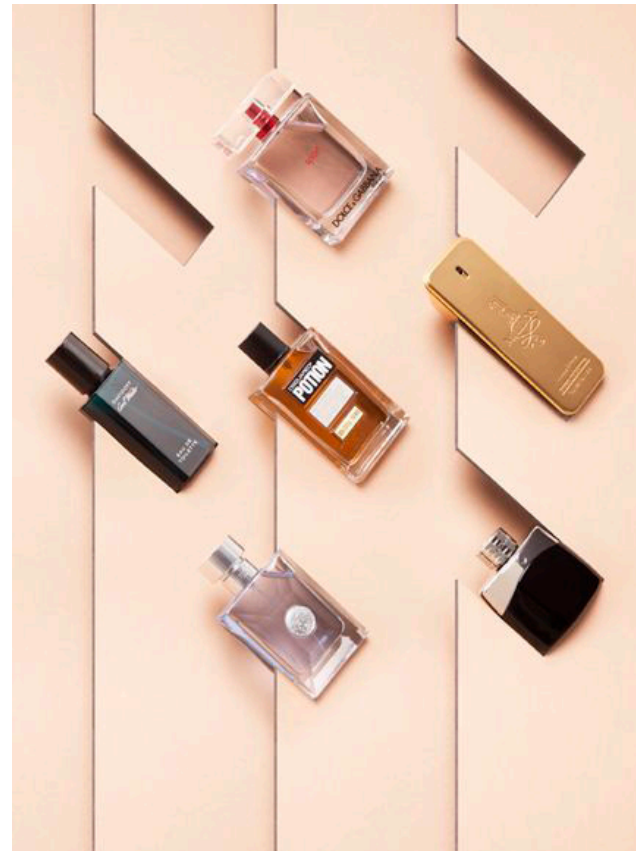

webpage inspiration

<https://predictiveworld.watchdogs.com/en/xp/>

<http://hollow.org.uk/>

content wise inspiration

cosmetic display

My Archive

I was also wondering if each one of us has archives. I started to think if there is something that I am collecting or keep track on. Nowadays everyone has archive in their phone. Their photo album. It is the track of their life and archive of their life. I started look into my phone and I found out one thing that I took photos million times again and again. More than selfie. It was my cat.

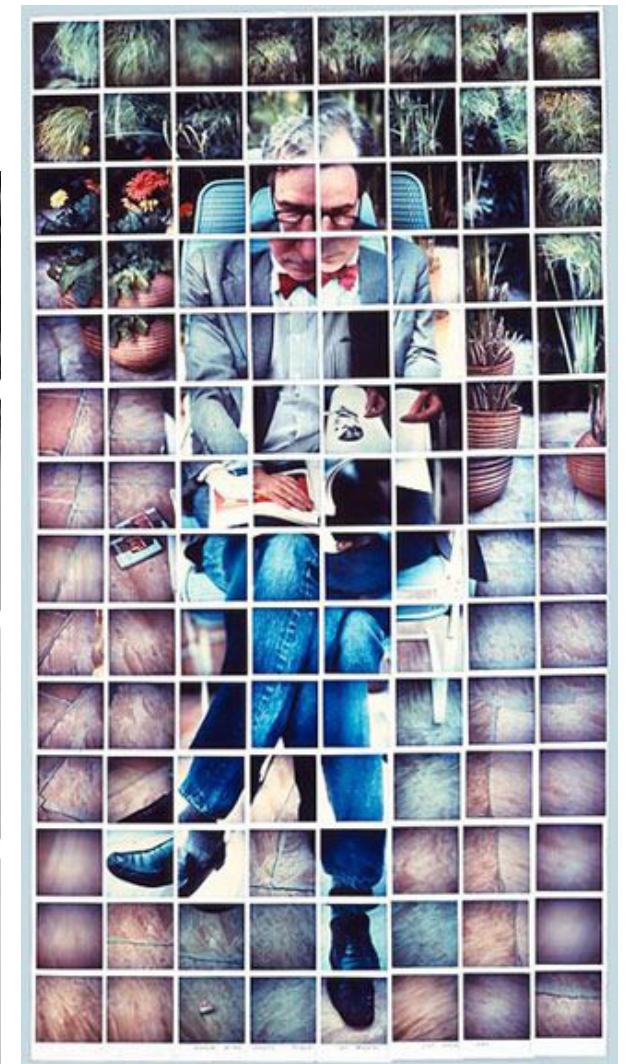

webpage inspiration

<http://pharrellwilliams.com/#>

<https://theone.bugaboo.com/en-us>

Mosaic photography work

Archive with maps

I got the idea by searching some examples of creative navigation website. The way that the navigation system itself gives the part of the information seemed interesting to me. As I really love street photography, I want to take photos around New York City and take photos of street lights and cross-walk. Although it may look similar, it will be each different when it combines with the location.

webpage inspiration

<http://www.locus-solus.it/en/>

<http://www.followcontador.com/>

<http://adnight.nl/home>

dublin doors

examples of cross walk

